Dear Parents or Carers,

This week, Knollmead Primary School will be taking part in Deaf Awareness Week. We have a range of exciting activities that all the children will be able to take part in, to raise awareness of hearing impairments.

On Wednesday, 23rd May, we are hoping to raise money to support the Hearing Dogs charity, which visited us last term. The children will have the opportunity to decorate biscuits, which they will bring home, for a donation of 50p. If you would like your child to support the Hearing Dogs, please do ensure that they bring in 50p in a named envelope on Wednesday.

We will also be welcoming the NDCS (National Deaf Children's Society) Listening Bus on Friday 25th May, where many of the children will have the opportunity to learn about different areas related to hearing impairments, such as technology and equipment, well-being and communication skills.

The NDCS have asked if they can use photos of the day on their website to promote their charity. If you consent to your child's photograph to be included in this, we would be grateful if you could fill out the form enclosed.

We are very much looking forward to raising deaf awareness and hope that the children share their experiences with you.

Yours sincerely

Ms Salih
Teacher of the Deaf
